English Empowerment Center Celebrates the Reaffirming $1 Million Grant from MacKenzie Scott Yield Giving Open Call

Falls Church, VA – The English Empowerment Center (EEC) is grateful and immensely proud to announce the award of a MacKenzie Scott's Yield Giving Open Call one-time grant of $1 million in recognition of the EEC's outstanding programs that empower adults and their families. "To be selected as an awardee from over 6,000 applicants is an honor and reflects the incredible work that our staff and volunteers have accomplished in service of our adult learners," said Michael Gavin, EEC's Board Chair. "We are grateful to The Yield Giving Open Call for their generous and reaffirming support of our organization and our mission."

EEC provides English language and literacy instruction to those who cannot read, write, speak, or understand English beyond the 6th grade level through a model that combines intensive instruction with support services. With English skills, EEC learners can gain a foothold in the workforce, obtain job advancement, or move on to higher-level learning, while strengthening family bonds and increasing their involvement in community activities. "With the receipt of this Yield Giving Open Call funding, we expect to be able to reach an even broader cross-section of adult learners," said Roopal Saran, EEC's Executive Director. "We will continue to seek additional recurring funding and resources to put in place the infrastructure and efficiencies to ensure that we can continue to sustain a higher level of service even after this generous grant has been depleted."
